Marsing High School

Edited by

Senior Class of 1941

FORWARD

Another school year has passed, and for the class of 1941 their last at Marsing High School. It has been a pleasure to guide this class through their last year at school, and to aid them in the publication of this annual. I hope that you will enjoy "The Arrow" as much as the staff and myself have enjoyed publishing it.

Mary Andersen
Sponsor of the class of '41

It has given me great pleasure to help edit the 1941 edition of "The Arrow". I appreciate the co-operation of the staff, the senior class, the faculty and students who have contributed their work to make this annual possible.

Louise Law
Editor of the '41 Arrow

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

In these days of uncertainty, doubt, and skepticism this 1941 class of Marsing High School must seek a place in which each may become a good and useful citizen. For 12 years now the members of this class have been ~~training~~ in school citizenship, and the success displayed by each in school is indicative of each one's success in the years to come. The success of this nation ~~depends~~ upon the effort made by each individual to become a good and useful citizen.

The good citizen has a thorough understanding of his relationship to his God, to his country, and to his fellow man. When the relationship to these three is understood correctly by the individual then the education for citizenship has achieved its aim.

It is my most earnest wish that the members of this class may meet and overcome the obstacles of life and continually add to the fund of knowledge acquired to date.

In appreciation of her inspiration and generous gifts of time and advice, which made this annual possible, we dedicate this 1941 Arrow to our class adviser, Miss Mary Andersen.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is that body of students organized to help solve the problems of student government. It is composed of two students chosen to represent each class.

Upon receiving an invitation to attend the convention at Boise, Glenda Larsen and Marlin Paine attended. Things that were discussed at the convention were: Students government and what the activity ticket means to the student.

At the first meeting, citizenship secretaries were chosen. They are: Senior, Mary Wolfe; Junior, LaVila Muldoon; Sophomore, Von Smith; Freshmen, Mary Ellen Edwards.

At one of the meetings the question of assembly program was discussed and it was decided that on the last day of each month that one class would give a program, these programs have been very successful.

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

As I, Sir Don Amelio, gaze into my crystal ball I can see many years into the future. But alas, all is not well for it appears muddy. No, it's changing. I see Melvin Lawrence, that tall, dark and handsome gentleman from Oklahoma, who is operating a very profitable oil well in that state.

As I gaze still farther into the depths of my crystal ball I see Everett Paine, the athletic wonder of the world, who has accepted a coaching job at Vassar College. He was always popular with the ladies.

Wait! We are shifting over to Africa. A familiar figure looms up before my eyes. It's none other than Dorolene Volkmer, one of the world's foremost explorers, just returning to her camp on the run. A jungle mouse was chasing her.

As the scene changes I can see Rosalie Williams as she stands before a class of young girls in her beauty saloon. Rosalie owns one of America's most profitable beauty saloons. It is located near the movie studios in Hollywood.

Hollywood fades very slowly before my eyes as New York's Metropolitan Studios come in view. There I see Mary Wolfe who has become a world famous opera singer. She got her start as a singer in church.

In the building across the street from the Metropolitan Studios I see Louise Law who is busying herself taking dictation from her boss. Louise has proved to be an excellent secretary. She hopes to be the President's secretary in a year or so.

As time goes by, a different view appears in my crystal. I see Lennard Smith tutoring a speaking class and according to what people say he has done more talking than almost any other person alive and should be suited for his job.

Next is Eugene Anderson, world's most famous artist, who is drawing a picture of a beautiful young lady in a garden of roses. The model is none other than Susie Muguira.

The scene shifts to the main street of New York. There I see Ray Loosli, a bald-headed man. He is not so terribly old but he becomes bald-headed from the worry of caring for his thirteen children; three of which are triplets.

Golly! The scene changes to the plains way out west. I see Eldon Ward out herding cattle. Woopiey! He fell off his horse. I guess he never was a very good cowboy because he couldn't even sit on a stool in Taylor's 10¢ drug store.

Oh! The Crystal's Cracking! No wonder look who I see. It's Maud Young the girl about town. There I see her mopping floors in her 52 room boarding house.

The scene shifts to an exciting scene down near the water front. It's a fire! The only outstanding figure I can see is Phyllis Peterson who is a reporter for the "New York Sun."

The reflection of the fire suddenly dies away and now England comes into view. Here we see Leo Simpkins studying at Oxford University after having won a scholarship from the University of Idaho.

Into my crystal ball I now see the vision of John Seitz. He is a world famous chemist and has recently put a new louse powder on the market, for the extermination of such pests as girls.

As the chemistry laboratory fades away into the distance a vision of Arthur Bish, the sleepy head of 41's graduating class comes into sight. He is teaching in one of the local high schools and all of his students seem to be quite bored by the lecture.

Forrest Coates, who has been preaching at the Church of Marsing, finally got transferred to India where he is still preaching. His wife and four children have gone to India with him.

A matrimonial bureau in Hollywood comes into view and two very becoming young ladies are seated at a desk. Many others are lined up before the desk. Vera Nelson and Faye Guthridge have been quite successful in finding suitable companions for not only their friends but themselves.

Right on out the highway into the country the crystal ball takes us to a ranch where a big celebration is being held. Bette Willin is riding a beautiful Indian pony before a group of Hollywood celebrities. Bette has been trick riding for a number of years.

What is this? Why it's Mr. McLaughlin the retired school master of 1941. He really saw no reason why he should go on teaching after he found a pot of gold under his back-door-step.

The scenery changes to a sheep ranch in the Owyhee foothills where Kenneth Ovregaard is employed. All he has to do is herd the sheep but the poor guy has lost most of them. It's quite a change from chemistry to herding sheep.

As we still gaze into the crystal ball we can see Edwin Carlson as he answers the door of one of America's millionaires. He has decided to be a butler in the place of a school teacher.

Mary Andersen appears before me as she stands in her garden of flowers. She has given up school teaching and started in the floral business. Her best seller is that favorite flower of the lovers, the For-get-me-not.

The scene shifts right on down the street where Marie Carothers is seen walking toward the park. She has two pet dogs that have won blue ribbons two years in succession. The dog's favorite recreation place is in the park.

Fred Milette, who has given up teaching, is seen as he goes to the door of a large home. He has been trying to be a traveling salesman since 1941. He is now a book sales man.

Oh My! The Crystal ball does not visualize anything else but we have been able to see what Marsing High School's 1941 graduating Class and faculty are doing.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1941, Marsing, Idaho in good faith and sound mind hereby make this our last will and testament.

We, the Senior Class, will to the Juniors the chemistry laboratory and our homeroom.

To the faculty we leave our memories in hopes that they are not too bad.

I, John Seitz, will to Elwood Smith my handsomeness in hopes that he has better use for it than I. I also leave my knowledge to the Junior Class in hopes that there will be enough to go around.

I, Eugene Anderson, will my artistic ability to Coach Milette, the "love 'em and leave 'em" policy to Alve Ballinger, and my wavy hair to Byron Ward.

I, Bette Willin, will my Mac West curves to Marie Smith, my 7th period of typing to LaVila. Boy! she will know some language when she gets through. "Please take it a little easy on the typewriter for it is in bad shape from my slamming it around."

I, Everett Paine, will my athletic ability to Marlin, my way with the girls to Glen Ward, and my grades in first semester chemistry to Glenda Larsen.

to receive and evaluate, and to what extent people can feel safe in their environment. The research will be concerned with the development of a model of the relationship between the environment and the individual's health and well-being.

3) individual structure factors are such as the will to succeed, the need for control, and the need for social support. These factors determine the individual's self-evaluation of his/her own health and well-being.

4) individual and social support factors are such as the availability of social support, the availability of medical services, and the availability of information about health and well-being.

5) age and life-style factors are such as the age of the individual, the sex of the individual, and the individual's life-style.

6) individual and social support factors are such as the individual's self-evaluation of his/her own health and well-being.

7) individual and social support factors are such as the individual's self-evaluation of his/her own health and well-being.

8) individual and social support factors are such as the individual's self-evaluation of his/her own health and well-being.

9) individual and social support factors are such as the individual's self-evaluation of his/her own health and well-being.

10) individual and social support factors are such as the individual's self-evaluation of his/her own health and well-being.

11) individual and social support factors are such as the individual's self-evaluation of his/her own health and well-being.

12) individual and social support factors are such as the individual's self-evaluation of his/her own health and well-being.

I, Lennard Smith, will my gift of gab to Mary Ellen Edwards in hopes she will have a better use for it than I, and my ability to get along with Mr. Ovregaard to Alice Gable.

I, Rosalie Williams, will my good grades in history to Dee Loosli, my yell leading position to Genevieve Zittle, and my way with the boys to Grace Ward.

I, Phyllis Peterson, will my fast talking to Della Swinney, my typing errors to Eldon Shields, and basketball ability to Clair Thomas.

I, Louise Law, will the work in the library to Marjorie Bevan with hopes that she will be able to locate the "lost" book, my good disposition to Hoyt Foster, and to Palma Smith I leave a blank space on next year's honor roll for her to write her name.

I, Leo Simpkins, will my fine behavior to Johnny Bicandi my late hours of study to Junior Plumb, and my means of getting out of classes to Joseph Van Wassenhove.

I, Forrest Coate, will my chemistry grades to Elwyn Gaines, my dramatic ability to Trini Goiri, and my bashfulness to Elyde Baker.

I, Maud Young, will my interest in Julius Churruca to Fern Zable, my little sister, Lucille, to the boys in her class, and my study halls to Faye Hunt.

I, Arthur Bish, will my "perfect" attendance to James Law, my sleepy looks to Duane Hill, and my good grades to Glenn Phipps.

I, Dorolene Volkmer, will my small feet to Ellen Thomas. Take good care of 'em. I also will my slenderness to Lois Kern, and my sewing ability to Opal Keister.

I, Eldon Ward, will my temper to the Holt twins, my baseball ability to Kelly Young, and my good looks to Kenneth Evans.

I, Mary Wolfe, will my basketball ability to Detta Hale. I also will my baseball cap to Nettie Griffield. Maybe she will put a few more stars on the crown.

I, Melvin Lawrence, will my height to Jim Hazen in hopes he isn't as awkward as I am. I also leave my slightly used English IV book to Ruby Hill.

I, Faye Guthridge, will my debating ability to Eileen Hansen, my grades in literature to Von Smith, and my boy friend to all the girls.

I, Ray Loosli, will my ability to do other people's typing to Gene Benson, my career as a play boy of Marsing High School to Billy Naf-singer, and my manuel training grades to John Lootens.

I, Vera Nelson, will my ping pong ability to Clyde Archer, my grades in history to Clinton Nerris, and my way with the teachers to Viola Gallivan.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In the fall of 1937 a group of bewildered and ignorant freshmen entered the high school then being held in the basement of the Edison Grade School and were instructed in such subjects as Albegra, History, English I, and General Science. All the girls were given a course in Home Economics and the boys were all taught Manuel Training. Although a high school had been held for several years this was the first year more than one teacher had been employed. The teachers were Mrs. Miller and Mr. McLaughlin.

Some of the names on the roll that year were Everett Paine, Arthur Bish, Winifred Sersain, Ida Porter, Stanley Bledsoe, Rosalie Williams, Forrest Coate, Vera Nelson, and two students who entered during the year, Bette Willin and Eugene Anderson.

Shortly after the beginning of school the class was initiated by the upper classmen. Later in the year a party in the form of a chili feed was held by the entire school.

Toward the end of that year the high school moved to their new building and finished the year in proud ecstasy. It was a few weeks later that the first public use was made of the new building in the presentation of a play, "Introducin Susan."

A picnic at Given Springs the last day of school, topped off the year.

By the beginning of the next year we had learned how high school students should and should not behave and act accordingly.

The first activity of the year was the initiation of the new freshmen. This time we were on the giving and not the receiving end.

The officers for this year were Everett Paine, President; Eugene Anderson, Vice President; Faye Guthridge, Secretary-Treasurer and Mrs. Miller class adviser. Some new faces this year were Dorolene Volkmer, Faye Guthridge, Philip McAllister, Melvin Lawrence, Leo Simpkins, and Eldon Ward. Some new teachers also were added, Mrs. Hibbard and Mr. Hiemstra. Under this able teaching staff the Sophomores learned English, Geometry, Latin, Biology and other subjects.

Plays in which sophomores took part were "Mistakes at the Blakes" and "Thanks Awfully". The Sophomores also took part in athletic activities.

It was that year that the first graduating class left the Marsing High School. Having reached the mid-point of high school we bid good-bye to the position of Sophomores.

As Juniors we found in our midst seven new students, Louise Law, Birdie Mae Smith, Faye Loosli, John Seitz, Lennard Smith, Mary Wolfe, and Maud Young.

Class officers elected were Leo Simpkins, President; Eugene Anderson, Vice President; and Maud Young, Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. Milette, Miss Andersen, and Mr. Albertson were added to the faculty increasing the number of teachers to six.

The Juniors under the able direction of Mrs. Miller presented the play "Cyclone Sally". The money was used in entertaining the second class of Seniors to leave the High School at the Junior-Senior Banquet. This banquet was held May 1, 1940, with the help of Miss Andersen, at the Wo-He-Lo-Club House. Leo Simpkins acted as master of ceremonies.

It was toward the last of the year that our class suffered a great loss, the death of our class sponsor, Mrs. Hibbard. Her death was a loss not only to the Junior Class but the entire school. We truly appreciate her work in giving the last months of her life to our class and school. Upon the death of Mrs. Hibbard, Mrs. McIver became the class sponsor and English teacher for the entire school.

During the drive for infantile paralysis funds, a contest was held for the class that gave the most money. By every one co-operating the Junior Class won and were awarded a full day vacation in which a picnic was had at Nampa.

When in the fall of 1940 our group again assembled as Seniors we found again some additions to our class, Ray Loosli, and Bradley Armstrong. Philip McCallister and Bradley Armstrong, however, dropped out during the year. Phyllis Peterson entered our class shortly after. New additions to the teaching staff were, Miss Carothers, Mr. Carlson, and Mr. Ovregaard.

Class officers were elected; Louise Law, President; Bette Willin Vice President; Maud Young, Secretary-Treasurer. We have received the best of service from these officers.

On November 21, the Senior Class Under the direction of Miss Carothers presented the play "Hobgoblin House". Because of play practice the Senior were unable to attend a skating party held by the rest of the school. They had a party of their own however a few days later. The Nampa School presented the same play on November 22. The cast attended as a body, and enjoyed finding the mistakes made by Nampa.

At Christmas time a party was held in the auditorium of the high school building. There was an exchange of gifts followed by the playing of games and a big feed.

In February another party was held. This time at Givens Springs. After a good swim a fire was built and some weiners roasted.

An assembly program was presented by the Senior Class on April 2nd. The program was composed of a play representing a district school of 1956 climaxed by a violin solo played by "Maestro Melving 'Fitz Christler' Lawrence". It was suspected however by some of the audience that there was something "fishy" about it.

On the first day of May the Seniors attended the Junior-Senior banquet at which they were entertained royally by the Juniors. Marjorie Bevans served as toastmistress and the banquet was appreciated by all of the Seniors.

After the labors of four years the great week arrived. On Sunday May 11, Baccalaureate was held with Professor H. H. Hayman as speaker, May 17th was the day of days for the Seniors. The Seniors presented the entire commencement program themselves and on that day bid goodbye to the class rooms of Marsing High School. Some of our students will go to further educational heights while others go out into the school of life.

In the fall of 1940, we the Junior Class entered the doors to another year of hard work. We numbered twenty-four in all with three new fellow men to join us. They were Evelyn Kiester, Etta Lou Hale and Everett Rost.

At Christmas time we gave a party at Miss Carother's home. After playing games and enjoying a lunch we exchanged gifts. The last of January the Junior Class gave an assemble program. It consisted of two skits, "Romeo and Juliet" and "An Appendicitus Operation."

Shortly after the second semester began Merlin Peterson and Junior Plum joined our class to help us carry on our work for the rest of the year.

On April 25 we gave our Junior play "The Night Owl." From the proceeds of the play we put on the Junior-Senior Banquet. For our theme we used "Owyhee Canyons", and based our decorations and speeches around it. The program was as follows: Toastmistress, Marjorie Bevan; Welcome, Eldon Shields; Response, Louise Law; "Gold Mine In the Sky", boy's trio; Springs of Education, Walter Swinney; Awards, Victor McLaughlin. (The citizenship awards were given to Louise Law and Leo Simpkins), "Idaho" sang by girl's trio. To close, we sang "God Bless America" which was led by Mr. Overgaard.

We now close our books, not to open them again until this fall. We then hope to return all in high spirits, for it will be, our last year to enjoy the Marsing High School and all it holds for us. We thank Miss Carothers, our faithful adviser, for helping us through this year.

We Sophomores came to school September 3, 1940 in another attempt to advance our minds. Things were a little mixed up until we became acquainted with our new teachers and classes.

There is an enrollment of thirty-eight students. Five of which are new this year. They are Austa Emerson, Florence Yeates, Jessie Bryant, Viola Gallivan, and Clyde Baker.

The Sophomores gave the Freshmen an initiation that they should never forget. They were put through several tests and then fed and sent home to sleep it off.

Two skating parties at the Midway Roller Rink were sponsored by the Sophomore Class. Every one had plenty of fun and bruises for remembrance.

We held a weiner roast at Jump Creek. Things were all right except that it was a little too cold.

The Sophomore boys and girls won the inter-class basketball tournaments for which they received the plaque on inter-class murals.

A party was held by the Sophomores at the High School for winning the basketball tournament. A good time was had by all who attended. There were games from ping pong to flying dutchmen.

Friday, March 28, a farewell party for Manuel Aspiri was held at the Givens Hot Springs swimming pool. After the swim, they finished off with a weiner roast.

Through the past year we have taken part in the activities of Marsing High, and so with our motto "Work hard, work long, always smile and you'll get along" we look forward to another year when we will be Juniors.

Thirty-three of us Freshmen entered Marsing High School on the day of September 3, 1940. Soon after school started we elected our class officers. Shortly after this the Sophomore class welcomed us by giving us a party. Many of the students didn't especially like this kind of party, but we will get our revenge on next year's Freshmen class.

Next we planned our first social activity and since it was leap year we asked boys or girls from the upper classes to attend. Soon after this we attended two skating parties given by the Sophomores.

During the inter-class basketball tournament, the Freshmen boys and girls were defeated, but we hope to win next year.

Semester exams came next and a number of us soon found out we were not as smart as we thought we were.

We gave the second assembly program for this year. Those who took part were Dorothy Muguira, Susie Muguira, Opal Keister, Duane Hill, Harold Shields, Hoyt Foster, Marie Smith and Jim Griffield.

We entered the ping pong tournament but were not victorious. As the school year rolls to an end we hope we will pass our semester exams and make a better Sophomore class than we did a Freshmen class.

FOOTBALL

Around the nucleus of eleven lettermen and several new recruits the Marsing Huskies looked forward to a successful season. But due to the many injuries the hopes of the Huskie squad were soon discouraged.

Honorary captain for the 1940 season was the quarterback, Leo Simpkins, three years a letterman.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

With the opening of the 1940-41 basketball season Coach Milette had the services of 5 lettermen and last year's Jr. Varsity squad around which to put forth a fighting quintet for the Blue and Gold. High point man for the Huskies was Eldon Shields with 101 points, Everett Paine followed with 93 points, then Elwyn Gaines with 58. Honorary Captain for Marsing's most successful basketball season was Everett Paine, two year varsity center.

INTER-CLASS TOURNAMENT

This year has been very successful in having inter-class tournaments. The Sophomores won in the basketball, both boys and girls.

In class ping-pong tournaments Vera Nelson won the girl's class tournament and Everett Paine won the boy's. Both of the winners are representatives from the Senior Class.

There was a Plaque given this year and the Sophomores have it in their room until some other class can win it from them.

BASEBALL

This year has been the best baseball season that Marsing High has ever witnessed. With a few veterans and many new boys, Coach McLaughlin put out a winning team.

GIRL RESERVE

Soon after a new school year had started LaVila Muldoon, the President elect, called a meeting in which the following officers were elected; Vice-President, Bette Willin; Secretary, Fern Zable; Treasure, Maxine Robbins.

Miss Andersen, the adviser, and officers chose the following to head the various committees; Social, Nettie Criffield; Finance, Ellen Thomas; Membership, Palma Smith; Publicity, Marjorie Bevan; Program, Bette Willin; Service, Betty Robbins.

Miss Helen Lowell, District Secretary of the Girl Reserves, came to our school one day and spoke to the new and old members of the organization on activities of our club and others in near-by communities. On November second the Girl Reserves of Southern Idaho held a fall conference at Meridian with that club as our hostess. Miss Andersen and the following girls attended; Mary Wolfe, Louise Law, Alice Gable, Mary Ellen Edwards, Marie Smith, Nettie Criffield, LaVila Muldoon, Marjorie Bevan.

The outstanding event of the year was a very beautiful and effective ceremony, the candle lighting service in which girls who wished to become members were officially made so after having taken their vows.

Two outstanding social events of the year were a hobo party held at the school and a kid party held at the home of our sponsor, Miss Andersen.

MARSING BAND

This school year the Band, under the supervision of Mr. Ovregaard, has increased in number and has shown considerable improvement. The uniforms are of dark blue with gold letters. The letters and caps were given by the P.T.O., the students receive the letters as an award, but the caps are retained by the school.

The Band has played for P. T.O. meetings, basketball, and football games and for the Commencement Exercises. The Band numbers fourteen and two majorettes. The Band is composed of the following units: Trumpets-Jack Daily, Billy Hoag, and Nettie Criffield; Clarionets- Mary Ellen Edwards, Dorolene Pavelec, and Mildreta Pederson; Horn-Delores Maxwell; Trombones-Forrest Coate and George Worcester; Bass-Marlin Paine; Drums-Lennard Smith, Alice Gable, Paul Hale, and Bette Willin; Majorettes-Helen Muldoon and Betty Larsen.
